These pioneers of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints traveled westward from Illinois to escape religious persecution and build a prosperous society of their own in today's state of Utah. Upon arrival in 1847, these determined individuals immediately set to work in developing the Salt Lake Valley and beyond with rapid success. Later generations of Latter-day Saint settlers, many listed here who were buried in the Salt Lake City Cemetery, have also had tremendous influence on their religious community and the history of the state.

Edward R. Martin (1818 - 1882) - Served as a sergeant in the Mormon Battalion during the Mexican War
Edward Hunter (1793 - 1883) - third Presiding Bishop of The Church
Mary Fielding Smith (Memory Stone) - Smith set out west with fellow pioneers. She was advised against the challenging journey by a pioneer
Willard Richards (1804 – 1854) - Early member of the Church and a witness to the martyrdom of Joseph and Hyrum Smith
Orson Pratt (1811 – 1881) - The last living member of the original 1835 Quorum of the Twelve Apostles
Erastus Snow (1818 – 1888) - Colonizer in the Intermountain West
Truman O. Angell (1810 – 1887) - Architect of the SLC Temple
Shadrach Roundy (1788 – 1872) - Early pioneer renowned for his loyal defense of Church founder Joseph Smith
Edward Rushton (1839 – 1919) - Pioneer and homesteader in Hunter, UT; Black Hawk War Veteran
Jedediah Morgan Grant (1816 – 1856) - First Mayor of Salt Lake City

George Q. Cannon (1827 – 1901) - Four-term delegate for Utah Territory in the U.S. Congress
Anthony W. Ivins (1852 – 1934) - Colonizer in the American Southwest
Amelia Folsom Young (1839 – 1910) - Alleged favorite (plural) wife of Brigham Young
William Wines Phelps (1792 – 1872) - Musical composer and hymn writer
Anna "Annie" Maria Ballantyne Hyde (1849 – 1909) - Founder and First President of the Daughters of Utah Pioneers
John R. Winder – (1821 – 1910) - Founder of Winder Dairy
J. Golden Kimball (1853 – 1938) - Church Apostle
Hugh W. Dougall (1872 – 1963) - Prominent musician
Albert E. Bowen (1875 – 1853) - Member of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles
Melvin J. Ballard (1873 – 1839) - General Chairman of the Church’s Welfare Committee

Hugh B. Brown (1883 – 1975) - Member of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles
J. Reuben Clark (1871 – 1961) - Undersecretary of State and U.S. Ambassador to Mexico
Matthew Cowley (1897 – 1953) - Prominent missionary in New Zealand
Richard L. Evans (1906 – 1971) - Writer, producer, and announcer for the "Music and the Spoken Word" radio broadcast
Bruce R. McConkie (1915 – 1985) - Undersecretary of State and as U.S. Ambassador to Mexico
Charles W. Penrose (1832 – 1925) - Second Counselor in the First Presidency for Church Presidents Joseph F. Smith and Heber J. Grant
LeGrand Richards (1886 – 1983) - Member of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles
James E. Talmage (1862 – 1933) - Scientist and writer
N. Eldon Tanner (1898 – 1982) - Counselor to four Church Presidents
Charles A. Callis (1856 – 1947) - Member of the Utah House of Representatives

Rudger Clawson (1857 – 1943) - Member of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles
George Teasdale (1831 – 1907) - Missionary, President of the Church Mission in Mexico
Neal Maxwell (1926 – 2004) - Presided over organization of the first Church stake staffed entirely by black African Church members in Aba, Nigeria in 1988
L. Tom Perry (1922 – 2015) - World War II veteran; member of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles
George Q. Morris (1874 – 1962) - Member of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles
Henry D. Moyle (1889 – 1963) - Leader in Church’s purchase of Florida ranchlands
George F. Richards (1861 – 1950) - Member of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles
John W. Taylor (1858 – 1916) - Church Apostle
Orson F. Whitney (1855 – 1931) - Member of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles