9/29/2021 10:57	Scott Swenson	Councilmember Fowler Aaron Lowe's blood is on Salt Lake City - Mayor and City Council hands. By the lack of confidence and funding you have shown to the SLC Police, it has sent a clear message. We will not fund the police and we don't care about our police officers. Why would any police officer ever work for SLC? By not funding and showing support, calls are going unresponded, on what started as minor calls are turning into deaths. There is no way I would ever live in Salt Lake City and I try to visit as limited as possible. Unless the current city council does something, SLC has already turned into slum infested murdering city. Scott Swenson	Police Funding

10/1/2021 13:09	Jenny Munford	Subject: (EXTERNAL) Yalecrest Neighborhood Street Lighting Hello Mr. Dugan My name is Jenny Munford, I live on Fairview Avenue, a street that currently has the decorative street lights. Unfortunately, my house does not, instead it has a city utility pole street light, that has a large power line that stretches across the yard and through a very large and very dry cedar tree. Having experienced the last few years of high winds and dry climate, tl feel it is time to make some changes. I was told by SLC Public Utilities that it was in fact an option to switch out the current utility pole for the decorative light pole for a fee and was referred to the Street Light Manager, David Pearson [REDACTED], I reached out to him multiple times and unfortunately haven't received a response. I would also like to note that when you call the number listed on the SLC.gov <http://slc.gov/> website you are greeted with a voice message that states you have reached an automated voice message stating that you reached this number [REDACTED] a number that doesn't correspond with the number listed on the website or the one dialed. This caused me to think this was a clerical error, so I emailed him [REDACTED] > and to my disappointment, I have yet to get a response. Feeling frustrated, my neighbor Kelly Patterson suggested I reach out to you in hopes you would help direct me to the right people to get this process underway. I appreciate your time and look forward to your feedback. Sincerely, Jenny Munford	Street Lighting Master Plan

10/5/2021 8:57	Bob Lund	Subject: (EXTERNAL) Motorhome parking I was taking my grandkids home from school and noticed motorhomes parked on 1700 South. The other day there was a news story of Salt Lake City government wanting to build tiny homes on some property the city owns. My thought: What if you grade the city owned property and move the motorhomes to that property? When the idea of tiny homes for the homeless was proposed it was clear to me that will not solve the problem. Homeless will not maintain the homes. Who will take care of the landscape? How will the houses be assigned to the occupant? I see a bigger mess than the mess we have now. Also, use an abandoned building such as the old Wycoff Trucking building of 300 West between 500 and 600 South, remediate it and as homeless are picked up they are placed there. Period. That's it. They will now be off the street. It will serve as a holding tank. This will not have the amenities a jail would have such as food and guards. Have a drinking fountain and restrooms. That's it. No more than that. The problem with the homeless is they're transient. They have nowhere to go. They're a public nuisance bordering on safety concerns for citizens. When the rows (fights) occur, so be it. Let them figure it out on their own. If someone dies, oh well. When the family comes out crying about how their loved one was treated, put a mirror in front of them because the family didn't help this person either. No suits can be filed. To be able to file a suit the plaintiff - family- will have to document that they themselves provided shelter for the deceased before the deceased was put in this holding tank. The only person the family can sue is the other homeless person that caused the death. No need for autopsies and proving how and what happened. Nothing. This is only a place to put that particular homeless person who has become a public nuisance. Support the police when they put them in this holding tank. Leslie Lund	Affordable Housing

Regarding: 252 West Brooklyn Ave. Overflow Shelter

To: Mayor Erin Mendenhall
Salt Lake City Mayor

CC: Salt Lake City Council
Via: Email

Dear Mayor Mendenhall,

Thank you for voicing your opposition to the placement of a permanent overflow shelter on Brooklyn Avenue in the Central 9th and Ballpark neighborhoods.

We are aligned with your concern of overburdening our neighborhoods with yet another homeless shelter in a community that has an outsized proportion of homeless and related services when compared to the rest of Salt Lake City and Salt Lake County.

We also share your concern with the inequity of putting too many services in any one neighborhood and that there is no process in place to ensure geographic equity of shelter placement.

For residents and businesses in this neighborhood, the potential placement of a permanent, low barrier, overflow shelter is a crisis. This unilateral action on the part of the Utah Homelessness Council and homeless service providers represents a tipping point in a neighborhood that is already struggling with an outsized burden of hosting shelters, resource centers, and related services.

We are already seeing negative consequences of this proposal. An urgently needed and long anticipated 238 unit affordable housing project that has been granted Planning approval at 269 Brooklyn Ave is now indefinitely paused due to the uncertainty caused by this potential shelter.

As there is currently no way to prevent the Utah Homelessness Council from imposing a shelter on any neighborhood with CG zoning in Salt Lake City, we are faced with an urgent situation. We ask you and the City Council to act immediately to impose a moratorium on new shelters in Salt Lake City until adjustments can be made to our zoning code that prevent an overconcentration of homeless services in any part of Salt Lake City.

Thank you for your time and attention. We hope that you, your staff, City Departments and the City Council can collaborate to quickly address this urgent problem.

Sincerely,

Ballpark Community Council Board
Central 9th Community Council Board
