Housing SLC Plan Available for Review and Comment

Housing SLC: Salt Lake City's 5-year Housing Plan is now ready for your review! The draft's housing goals and action items are based on feedback from 6,500+ residents about their vision for the future of housing in Salt Lake City. Learn about the plan and let us know what you think about it.

We want your feedback on the Housing SLC draft plan before it is presented to the City Council for review and possible adoption in June 2023. To ensure this plan fits the public's needs, scroll down on the website to read the plan's goals and metrics and answer a few questions about them.

The draft plan and comment form are also available in Spanish. For

2023 Master Recycler Program

Registration is open for the 2023 Salt Lake City Master Recycler program! The mission of the program is to create a network of champions who are trained in waste reduction strategies and are able to assist with outreach and engagement in the community. Master Recyclers work within their own neighborhoods to educate about recycling and encourage people to reduce their waste. Program participants commit to attending a minimum of 6 classes, 2 activities, and 12 volunteer hours to complete their certification.

This free program provides in-depth instruction for residents in an effort to promote recycling and improve waste diversion rates. This opportunity comes around once a year and space is limited. Click the link below to learn more and sign up for this year's courses!

Join the Sister Cities Advisory Board

Salt Lake City is currently seeking members for the Sister Cities Advisory Board. The Sister Cities program was founded in 1956 by President Dwight D. Eisenhower. Today, over 140 countries have Sister Cities relationships, connecting over 2,000 communities. In practice, the relationships include cultural exchange programs, humanitarian aid, dignitary visits, economic development, global awareness, and educational exchange programs.

Salt Lake City has active relationships with Chernivtsi, Ukraine; Torino, Italy; Trujillo, Peru; Izhevsk, Russia; Keelung, Taiwan; and Matsumoto, Japan.

Though there is a vast range of diversity in these relationships, all share the common goal to promote peace through mutual respect, understanding, and cooperation.

If you are interested in lending your time and talents to the program, submit an application by clicking on the link

Ballpark NEXT

The Ballpark NEXT Design Competition is still calling for entries through the end of this week, March 17th! This ideas competition is an opportunity for residents, post-secondary students, and development professionals to tell us what they envision for the future of the Smith's Ballpark site.

Note: The winning ideas and overall themes from the Competition may help inform the development of the ballpark site, but the Competition will not be the only opportunity for community members to contribute. There is still a great deal of work to do, including community collaboration, before an actual scope of development is drafted and ready to move ahead.

Learn more about the competition, get step-by-step instructions for submitting an entry, and get your questions answered by visiting the Ballpark NEXT website!

SLCtv Media Updates

Salt Lake City News - March 9, 2023

We have a new host, please welcome Yusuf Maung! On our episode this week, we talked with SLC's Department of Economic Development about their Construction Mitigation Grant program. We recapped the last City Council meeting, where Council Members received briefings on the Northpoint Small Area Plan and a status update about water supply/snowpack, among other issues. Finally, our History Minute is about the little-known Pleasure Gardens of SLC.
