Town-Hall Meeting Format and Ground Rules

Purpose of Meeting

The primary purpose of this town hall meeting is informational. Panelists will provide important summary information relating to the spill and cleanup efforts. The panel includes key role-players in these efforts. Once the panelists have provided updates, the public will have the opportunity to ask questions.

Format of Meeting

Members of the community will have time allotted to ask specific questions and obtain answers and information. Unlike last month's meeting, there will be no breakouts; the meeting will be focused in this auditorium alone. We want you to be able to participate meaningfully and have your questions answered responsibly. To accomplish this, our Q&A will be managed as follows:

1. Two microphones are available for use, one in each of the center aisles. Those who wish to ask questions will form lines at the microphones. Questions will alternate between the two microphones. Questions will be answered by the panelists.
2. Questions will have a 3-minute time limit. The person asking a question will be informed by the facilitator when their time is up. Please consider refining your questions in your mind or on paper before asking them to the panel.
3. The panel or facilitator may ask for clarification of a question or answer.
4. Once you have asked your question and the panel has answered, please return to your seating or move to the back of a line if you would like to pose additional questions.
5. Some highly specific questions may be referred to a City specialist instead of the panel.

Ground Rules

It is important for everybody to observe the rules below to ensure we can answer as many questions as possible in an orderly manner and in the 90 minutes we have allotted.

- One person speaks at a time from a microphone station; please do not interrupt others.
- All will share questions in order; any person will be able to ask questions.
- No one may criticize another.
- Discussions need to focus on questions and answers, please help us avoid debates and speeches.

A summary of questions, answers, and notes from tonight's meeting will be made available on the city's website in coming days.
