

Clayton Scrivner

Clayton Scrivner is a 27-year resident of Salt Lake City's Trolley Square neighborhood and represents District 4 on the PNUT Board. A public sector communicator by profession, Clayton has two decades of experience in public engagement, including five years at Salt Lake City Corporation and four years in Parks and Recreation at Salt Lake County. He currently serves as the spokesperson for Park City Municipal. Clayton plays the drums, collects records, and likes to spend his spare time either kayaking, backpacking, or spending chill time at the family cabin in the Uinta Mountains. His son Charlie is the coolest 10-year-old in the world and his rescue dog named Rudie is as lazy as she is goofy.