

Ginger Cannon

Ginger is a sustainability leader passionate about creating quality places where all people want to live, work, play, and learn. She currently works for the University of Utah and has over 20 years of experience in strategic planning, environmental design, and government administration. Ginger joined the Board back in 2021 and she is one of the Boards At-Large representatives.