

Date/Time Opened	Popular Topic	Contact Name	Description	Attachments
11/29/2021 14:22		Shea Klinghoffer	Hello Liaisons, I am sharing constituent Shae Klinghoffer general comments from today s (Tuesday November 16,2021) Formal meeting. I m not sure what follow up may be necessary but Council Member Fowler asked if we could find out where she lives, her address is [REDACTED]. Shea s comments were regarding the lack of civil enforcement with short term rentals like Airbnb and Burbo, lack of zoning enforcement, late night parties and strangers in the neighborhood, etc. She later added the following comments over chat: "Geroge asked why the codes aren't being enforced, one reason is the hosting platforms for short term rentals hide the addresses so civil enforcement can't find them. The addresses are only revealed after you book the space and they email you the information within 24hrs of check in. I'd also like to add that out of the 10 people I emailed through Airbnb and VRBO, three people said they would remove their listings once they were made aware they were breaking the law. I believe more people would comply if the requests came from civil enforcement."
11/30/2021 7:37		Steve Erickson	November 30, 2021 Dear Councilmembers, I am writing to urge your support for allowing Ken Sanders Rare Books to move into The Leonardo. KRSB would be an ideal tenant for a community gathering space like The Leonardo. A long-time fixture downtown, the store has hosted countless community events like book and poetry readings, art and poster exhibits, speaking engagements, and live music performances - and promoted many more around town. KRSB will not only complement the mission and the events curated by The Leonardo, it will bring its own regular customers and fans. Iconic and eclectic, comfy and quirky, traditional yet progressive, KRSB has bucked the trend to large commercial franchise bookstores, and adapted to e-books and mail-order and books by home delivery, all while remaining a repository of western history and literature and keeping its local, community focus. It would match well with the innovative and provocative style of its new host. Thank you for your favorable consideration of this request. Steve Erickson
11/30/2021 10:57		Steve Erickson	Dear Councilmember Wharton, I am writing to urge your support for allowing Ken Sanders Rare Books to move into The Leonardo. KRSB would be an ideal tenant for a community gathering space like The Leonardo. A long-time fixture downtown, the store has hosted countless community events like book and poetry readings, art and poster exhibits, speaking engagements, and live music performances - and promoted many more around town. KRSB will not only complement the mission and the events curated by The Leonardo, it will bring its own regular customers and fans. Iconic and eclectic, comfy and quirky, traditional yet progressive, KRSB has bucked the trend to large commercial franchise bookstores, and adapted to e-books and mail-order and books by home delivery, all while remaining a repository of western history and literature and keeping its local, community focus. It would match well with the innovative and provocative style of its new host. Thank you for your favorable consideration of this request. Steve Erickson
11/30/2021 13:54		Amy Carmen	There is a proposed change on 2100 south between 2300 E and 1300 E. I responded to their survey, and emailed you my concerns. I don't if you got it, there was no confirmation. The proposal includes making one lane on each side, bike lanes and wider sidewalks. We went through this about this 3 years ago, and it was voted down for a good reason, there is too much traffic there, and too much development that is bringing more people. it will be a nightmare and long back ups! Please find other traffic calming ways like a 3 way stop at 1900 E., speed bumps, signs to remind them their speed limit, for them to slow down. How about a well advertised neighborhood meeting for example at Dilworth, with your drawings and proposal! How about info in your city council newsletters to give more details about it? People are upset, this can't be passed without more community input. Thank you, Amy Carmen	